

Highlights from Saunders students on co-op

Matt Donovan

Project Manager of the Shopper's Club Card Outsourcing Project

Wegmans

“RIT has laid the foundation for me to be able to jump in and contribute to an organization like Wegmans. I have had the opportunity to take what I learned in the classroom and from the very experienced professors I have come to meet, and apply it to real-world situations. This has given me a head start for when I graduate from college next year.”

Work Place:

He is pursuing his spring 2014 co-op working at Wegmans corporate offices in Rochester, New York.

Position:

Project Management/Business Analysis Co-op, specifically Project Manager of the Shopper's Club Card Outsourcing Project, and on a daily basis he works hand-in-hand with the Project Support Services team at Wegmans. Participates in and contributes to the vast number of projects that the company is engaged in by doing things such as attending weekly corporate meetings, performing competitive analysis, organizing training classes, and testing some of the newest technology in the grocery business. As his time at Wegmans progresses, the team has trusted me with more responsibility as he continues to develop his business skills.

Program and Year:

Class of 2015 Management major, minors in Management Information Systems and Economics
